

September 2011

27th September 2011

0057 - Class 57s are...gone

Today's stock move from Loughborough to Tonbridge Yard saw 57301+57305 (now denamed and debranded but still in the distinctive Virgin Trains livery) on their way to a new operator, Network Rail. It is understood that the Dellner couplers on the locos have been adjusted for use with multiple units. It is not known when they will receive their new Network Rail yellow colours.

34067 Tangmere at Milton Keynes

On Monday, ex-Southern Railway Battle of Britain Class 34067 Tangmere passes Milton Keynes Central on the Up Slow with 5Z34 Carnforth to Southall. Tangmere was around 2 hours late at this point, having been heavily delayed at Crewe awaiting a driver. Photo by Mark Richards